

Source: www.dilbert.com

Need a break away from work?

We all need a break from work sometimes. Get out of the office (and your cubicles!) with your colleagues for a day of fun, learning and discovery! Positive motivation goes a long way in enhancing staff efficiency and productivity. So, what better ways to motivate your staff by giving them a good time and yet, build stronger relationships at the same time?

If the sun, sea and the sand sounds like an ideal diversion from the four walls of the office, then join us for sand-castle building! Test the team's ability to work together with resource constraints in sand castle building.

Best Part? The water bomb session at the end would definitely create a HIGH!

